Spring 2027 Education Department Internship

The Jackie Robinson Museum

The Jackie Robinson Museum chronicles Jackie Robinson's trailblazing accomplishments against the backdrop of United States history, from his birth in 1919 to the present and serves as a vehicle to perpetuate Robinson's legacy, inspiring visitors to continue working toward "first class citizenship" for all. The Museum is part of the Jackie Robinson Foundation (JRF), a public, not-for-profit national organization founded by Rachel Robinson in 1973. To learn more, visit jackierobinsonmuseum.org.

Internship Description

The Jackie Robinson Museum Education Department intern will join a small team of full-time and part-time staff responsible for developing and implementing school and public programming at the Jackie Robinson Museum. Key programming areas include school field trips delivered Tuesday through Friday and youth and intergenerational public programs.

Interns will receive training on Jackie Robinson's trailblazing accomplishments against the backdrop of United States history as well as the Museum's approach to sharing the complexity of Robinson's life and legacy with visitors of all ages. The intern will also be trained in the content and pedagogy of the Museum's high-demand field trip offerings, with the expectation that the intern will step in as co-educator alongside Museum staff serving K-12 classes during the spring.

In addition to participating in content training and field trip delivery, the intern will have one or more supplementary projects to support the department throughout the duration of the internship. There is some flexibility in the format and content of the assigned project(s) to best align with the intern's interest areas as well as the Education Department's areas of need and goals.

The Spring 2027 internship would begin in late January 2027 and continue for 20 weeks, through the week of May 31, 2027.
